Make a Rabbit Mask

Step 1: Paste the mask on to card stock. Cut out the mask (grown-ups only). Or, you might want to trace the mask template on to foam and then cut it out.

Step 2: Use an X-acto knife (and cutting board) or hole punch to cut out the eye-holes (grown-ups only).

Step 3: Position the mask on your child's face. Mark the appropriate spot on each side of the mask to punch holes. After you punch the holes, reinforce them with tape so that the mask doesn't rip while your child is wearing it. Thread a length of string through each hole and secure it. Make sure the mask fits snugly but not too tightly around your child's head.
